Truth in Savings Disclosure

DEFINITIONS:

Savings Account:

This account is not a transaction account. Current laws limit transactions for this account. See your Account Disclosures for more information.

Checking Account:

An account designed for transacting normal personal business.

Dividend:

Also known as the interest rate.

Dividend Rate:

The stated dividend rate before calculating the effect of compounding

APY:

The annual percentage yield over one-year based on the dividend rate with compounding interest.

ADB:

The average daily balance

INTEREST RATE: The rate of interest paid on savings is determined each month at the sole discretion of the credit union board of directors. The nominal (stated) rate and the corresponding annual percentage yield may change each month. There is no limit on the amount that the interest rate and APY may change.

MINIMUM BALANCE REQUIREMENT: Members must maintain a minimum balance in the primary savings account of $5. Interest is earned on the entire account balance.

COMPOUNDING: Interest is paid and compounded on the last day of each month for the monthly dividend period. Interest is calculated using the daily balance method. This calculation is made by averaging the ending daily balance of the account by the number of days in the dividend period and applying the nominal rate of interest paid for the period.

CREDITING: Accounts begin to accrue interest and receive credit from the day after deposit for both cash and noncash (check) deposits, and receive interest credit through date of withdrawal.

NATURE OF DIVIDENDS: Dividend rates are declared during the month prior to the month in which they will be paid. Dividends are paid from current income and available retained earnings of the credit union after required transfers to reserves. The rate and APY are the prospective rates and yields anticipated for the dividend period.

CLOSED ACCOUNTS: An account must remain open on the date of dividend payment, which is the last day of each month, in order for interest to be applied. If an account is closed before the date of dividend payment, interest accrued may not be credited.

TRANSACTION LIMITS: Telephone requested or automatic transfers from regular share accounts to checking accounts, which do not have a signed transfer voucher from the accountholder, are limited to six (6) such transfers per calendar. There are no other limitations on the number of transactions which may be made on any account.
